Reaching for Destiny

Children born into extreme poverty lack access to basic necessities – clean water, adequate food, routine medical care. But one of their most profound deficits is less concrete but very real- it's hope. If only they could exercise their God-given capacity to reach big dreams for their destiny! If only they could imagine getting a good education and then living as productive members of society, working in a chosen profession to provide for their families, reach destiny with the full use of their gifts. Sadly, many children don't dare to dream such dreams.

Future

It begins with an education. Children attend school and some children receive additional academic help in after-school program.

Serving Foundation International will provide them with tangible support, so that each child now knows, "Someone in the world knows me and cares for me and is investing in my education to help me to reach my destiny". That knowledge provides the child with that all-important life changer, hope for the future.
